

Escape from Mars!

Camp for Students with Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD)

In a camp inspired by the book-turned-movie The Martian, campers will use astronomy, biology, chemistry, physics, and engineering to explore human survival on Mars and figure out a return route back to Earth! This camp is designed specifically for college-bound high school students with Autism Spectrum Disorders and will include experiences that will help them discover their strengths and learn to apply them in science and the college environment!

Dates: M July 31st – Th August 3rd, 2017

Location: Penn State, University Park

Registration fee: $25

Financial aid is available to those who qualify

Registration is now open! Please contact the Science Outreach office at sciencecamps@science.psu.edu or \(814\)865-0083 if you have any questions.

Link to registration: <http://www.cvent.com/d/3vq449/4W>